Silver Class at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, June 12.—Friends of silver representing twenty States of the South and West began a two day's convention in this city to-day. Fifteen hundred delegates, comprising Democrats, Republicans and Populists, are on "honest money" as the slogan.

TO-MORROW'S CONVENTIONS.

Precinct Meetings to Send Delegates to the County Conventions.

In each of the 28 precincts of the county there will be held a mass convention at 2 o'clock tomorrow evening to send delegates to the county convention Monday. Nearly all of these meetings will send delegates favorable to Hardin for governor and for free silver. In the city districts there is a division of sentiment on the currency question, but Hardin delegates will doubtless be appointed without opposition, as Clay has made no fight for the county. There is a dis-

Great Speech of Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky.

THE LEADING POLITICAL ISSUE.

Gold Standard Advocates Answered—Mastery Manner—Why Silver Was Stricken Down—Secretary Carter's Idle Arguments Refuted.

In his recent speech at Owensboro, Ky., in reply to Secretary Carter, Senator Blackburn made an exhaustive argument in favor of free coinage of silver and fully answered the late speech of the secretary of the treasury. Mr. Blackburn's arguments are that the politics of politics are rapid and great. For a third of a century or more two great political organizations have been struggling for the mastery in this land of ours. Questions of great importance, such as the protective tariff system and currency systems have constituted two great pivotal issues upon which the republicans and democrats have struggled with each other. This contest is peculiar at least in this, that for the first time in thirty years you have a majority of one party eliminated. It has been temporarily eliminated from American politics. The high protective tariff system, under which the taxpayers of this land for so many years have groaned and stagnated, has been struck down, and a new, much lower tariff bill was substituted upon the 28th day of last August. I need not consume my time nor trench upon your patience with any discussion of that tariff law. At any rate it is now a dead issue, and, for some years to come, it is agreed upon all hands that it is not an issue in active politics.

I may as well come direct, without reference to the other great national issue, that is now occupying the attention of the American people, and that is the currency question. When we come to look at that we find new and novel phases to contemplate. The parties in the country are divided upon this question, and it is to be regretted, however unfortunate the condition, that both the republican and democratic parties to a degree themselves are divided upon this great question. It is not in my power to overstate the importance of this question, and the imperial power to do justice in this attempt to describe the far-reaching consequences that depend upon the settlement that you are to make of this issue. There can be no question presented that the currency question touches every man and every woman within the limits of this land and does this money question. In some of its aspects it is even more important than the tariff. It is true that it is a matter of no small significance to the productive elements of this country, and you know these are to be high or low; but it is still more important to you to have this money question settled on a fair and honorable basis.

What matters it to you or to me whether our taxes be high or low? What matters it to us whether our taxes be one dollar or two dollars a year provided we have not any done with which to pay either? This money question reaches to the pocket of every citizen in the country, and it challenges your just judgment, your soberest thought. The most careful consideration that it is possible for any intelligent, prudent, patriotic citizen to give to any issue is what this question is to the productive elements of this country, and you know these are to be high or low; but it is still more important to you to have this money question settled on a fair and honorable basis.

Truth as I see it. Men talk a great deal in the daily press of the country, that the slaves present now, which is absorbing the attention of all people, in a contest between monometallism, or a single standard, based upon the gold standard, and bimetallism, based upon the silver standard. The man who makes this statement, the stump speaker, who presents this as the issue that is now pending before the people of Kentucky and the people of the country, is not dealing fairly with the people. This is not the issue; it is not a question between a single gold standard and a single silver standard. If there be left anywhere upon this earth a single standard, it will be the gold standard as the representative money of the American people, bearing witness for me, Heaven, I never saw, I never knew, I never heard of such a man. Let us deal fairly with the people, let us tell the truth to the people, let us tell the honest ones to tell the truth.

This does not present the only side of the question, however. The other side of the question is that the people of the state, the people of the country, the people of the nation, are arrayed against the gold standard, and the other side stands arrayed the army that represents the masses of the American peo-

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE JOHN PHELPS
has been appointed for the Circuit Court Judge in this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 5, 1895.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE THOMAS P. COOK.

of Gallatin county, as a candidate for Judge of the Circuit Court of this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE THOS J. MORROW

as a candidate for Circuit Judge of the Third Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention July 9.

We are able to give to-day the recent speech of Senator Blackburn in reply to the fallacious arguments of Secretary Carlisle in support of the European system of finance. We commend it to every lover of his country as an admirable defense of the American system, that has long been a doctrine of the Democratic party.

A careful examination of the Republican platform fails to discover the condemnation of the "Jim Crow" law, so earnestly desired by the colored writers. The Republican leaders are evidently well pleased with the plan of having the white and colored delegates go to their State conventions in separate coaches.

Chas. D. McKinney withdrew from the race for representative in Trigg County, on account of the expense of the primary ordered. There are three other candidates. The fact that McKinney was for silver is not significant. All of the other candidates are said to be for silver, and so is Col. Sims, who will undoubtedly be nominated for State Senator.

The Democrats and Populists of North Carolina held joint convention to send delegates to the Memphis meeting. Last year the Populists entered into a fusion with the Republicans, but the silver sentiment is destined to bring the Populists back into the party they left, when ever the lines are squarely drawn as they will be next year with the Republicans for the Sherman system and the Democrats for bimetallism.
The Populists of the South are nearly all discontented Democratic and wherever the Democratic party take a stand for honest money, it will gain two populists for every god-dog who goes over to the Republicans.

Ollie James, the brilliant young lawyer of Marion, was in the city a day or two this week on legal business.
He is one of the most enthusiastic advocates of the Jeffersonian system
of finance to be found in Kentucky.
A young man of unusual ability and extensive knowledge on the subject, he is able to express his views fluently and eloquently on the stump. He lets no Shermantine invade Crittenden county without replying to him and correcting his misrepresentations, and it is largely through his efficient service for Democracy that there are no
goldbug Democrats in Crittenden county. He is one of the coming men of the State and at twenty-five gives greater promise than any young man of his age in Kentucky.

The Winchester convention pointed with pride to Cleveland's administration. It endorsed Cleveland who joined his party last year and led it to ignominious defeat. It endorsed his fondness for colored queens,
for suave reform and magni-wumps in office. It endorsed his reputation of the double standard declaration of the platform upon which he was elected. It endorsed his hypnotic influence over our own Carlisle, by which the leader of bi-metallists became a follower of goldbugs. It endorsed his refusal to sign the Wilson tariff bill and his accusation of "perfidy and dishonesty" brought against Democrats who did not agree with his unscrupulous ideas of all of his public record, including the Morgan-Rodshus bond scandal and the unnecessary increase of the bonded debt was endorsed and if the convention had heard of his Sabbath desecration in time it would undoubtedly have added an endorsement of his fishing on Sunday. A great gathering of "cockoo" was held.

CIRCUIT COURT NEWS.

Nobody Will be Sent up This Time—Civil Cases.

I present term of circuit court is wearing the close of the second week and there have been no important cases tried. There is but little to do on the criminal docket. Not a single prisoner is in jail and for the first time on record there will be no convicts sent to the penitentiary during this term.

Civil cases have occupied all of the time since the last report. Judge McCarroll is still presiding with the dignity and gravity of a veteran and disposing of business with dispatch.
Following are the principal proceedings:

H. Jones, same, " "
Wm. Traiman, assault, "$30.
Same, c. d. w., "$25.

turned Wednesday:

house for bawdy house.

property of another.

10 days in jail.

Walker Stoner, Alex Hopkins, Jno.
Bey, Almon Clegg, Wm. Davis,
James, same, each fined $20 and costs.

Chas. Holland and Mary Isaac, forcation, each fined $20 and costs.

manslaughter, verdict of "not guilty."

In the equity case of Melissa Fields vs. Robt. J. Fields, a divorce was granted.

J. A. Reach vs. J. S. Fritz and the Albion Co., Louisville, damage suit for false arrest, is now in progress.

Where to Vote To-morrow.

The four city conventions will be called to order to-morrow at 2 p. m.
at the following places and by the following named committees:

No. 1, at the City Court room, Alex.
Campbell committee, 2 delegates votes.

No. 2, at Wheeler's warehouse,
on Sixth street, Geo. D. Dalton committee, 1 vote.

No. 3, at Gaither's warehouse,
on Ninth street, James West committee, 2 votes.

No. 4, at Ragsdale's warehouse,
on Main street, Chas. M. Meacham committee, 4 votes.

The Concord convention will be called together by Chas. Lacy in the absence of the committee man, and the Palmyra convention by Committee man Joe B. Buckner.

No Games this Week

A satisfactory arrangement could not be made with the Nashville Marathon for the games this week and they have been declared off for the present. It is safe to say that we will have some fine ball next week,
as younger Gallatin is in correspondence with several good teams with a view of having them play here
this month.

It is all right in the interest of harmony to "get together" on the 182nd platform, but if the Sherman followers attempt to endorse Cleveland and Carlisle, the loyal Democrats will turn loose the dogs of war.

THE KOSINGTON SULPHUR WORKS.

Mr. Walter W. Rossington has had his sulphur waters near Julien, analyzed by Prof. Peter, of Lexington, and they are found to be of fine quality, similar to Blue Lick but somewhat inferior. Following is Prof. Peter's letter and the analysis:

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 18, 1895.

DEAR SIR:

Enclosed I send the results of my qualitative analysis of the two waters you sent. They seem to be very good salt sulphur waters and are of course better than the other. They are remarkable for containing a very marked amount of iodides, which is a valuable feature of such waters. The one marked No. 2 has the best mineral water in it and is nearly as strong as Blue Lick. Either of these waters could be used in the same way Blue Lick is and by some might be more palatable. Their composition is somewhat different from Blue Lick in that they contain more sulphates of lime, magnesia and soda, but they are well charged with sulphurated hydrogen and sulphides.

I would be glad to have any further particulars for our report.

ALFRED M. PETRA.

ANALYST.

Nos. 2087 and 2091.

Two samples mineral water marked Nos. 1 and 2, from Mr. Walter Rossington, Hopkinsville, Ky.

The waters are entirely similar in character, except that No. 2 is considerably stronger. Qualitative analysis shows the presence of the following:

Carbonate of lime and magnesia in small quantity, with a trace of carbonate of lime.

Sulphates of lime magnesia and soda in considerable quantity.

Cloride of sodium: much.

Iodines very marked; bromides traces.

Borates and lithium compounds quite marked.

Sulphides and free sulphurated hydrogen gas in considerable quantities.

Total saline matters: in No. 1 236 grains per gallon, and in No. 2 518 grains per gallon.

The analysis indicates that the waters are good salt sulphur waters. They are rather weaker than the Blue Lick water.

ALFRD. M. PETRA.

These waters are offered for sale at Cook & Co's drug store, Hopkinsville, Ky., at 25 cents a gallon or at the walls at 10 cents a gallon.

women, in the name of mercy, in the name of Heaven, make one more speech and tell that farce, and then let me out how to prop up the collapsing debt? [Applause.] Then we shall all be safe.

Cannot Criticise the Administration.

It is no pleasant duty for me to criticise, or to find fault with or to condemn the policy that has been adopted and pursued by my own party. I am a party man, a partisan, not simply for the sake of party, but because I honestly earnestly and sincerely believe that the best interest of the country, of every section of it, of all its people, are best promoted and served by the triumph of the principles of my party. I am the last man to criticise or censure, but my regret is that I cannot complain, as I have done sometimes, in the halls of Congress, upon the meetings, anywhere, everywhere, publicly and privately, since I entered upon the estate of manhood; I have been complaining and denouncing the financial policy of the republican party. If I am to continue this criticism, I will do so, but at least it will strike the present financial policy of my own administration as heavily as it does the enemy.

What is it I find here to-day in times of peace? This great minister of finance, half a million of bonds to get sold to carry the expenses of this government. Every time you sell a bond for gold you send the price of gold up higher and higher. We find no money to pay the expenses of telling us to pass a bill authorising the secretary of the treasury to sell any amount of bonds not exceeding $500,000,000, payable, interest and principal, in gold, and gold alone. That is the reason why congress would not obey that order that congress would not vote a bill to prohibit the sale of bonds to other branches refused to knuckle down and obey that command; that congress declared that it would not add to the already heavy burden that was upon us, when he took back of the taxpayer of this country much more of an interest-bearing gold bonded debt. May the great God forgive me if ever I do, while standing upon the field of battle, Congress or the accreditors of Congress and home, but I trust, honest spokesman of a brave, bold people—may Heaven deign to me its blessings if ever I cast a vote to lame a gold-bearing bond as an additional burden upon the people. The republican party tried to do so, but they refused. The democratic administration may make the same effort, but, God helping me, I shall continue to refuse until I die. [Applause.]

What is the practical plan here? Mr. Sherman for nearly three years has been calling to get converts to this financial policy of his. He never found a witness until now. For nearly a quarter of a century he has stood there upon the door of the senate trying to explain the enormous increase of 1973 was openly, honestly and fairly passed. Over and over has he sworn to it, over and often has he labored in the senate in his speeches to prove it. I never yet knew him to succeed in convincing anybody of its truthfulness. But Dr. Williams' speech in the lapse of twenty-two years, he finds a witness. In his Covington speech the secretary of the treasury repeats the oft-repeated declarations of Senator John Sherman and asserts that the result of the war was open, fair and manly policies of legislation, congratulates Mr. Sherman upon having found a distinguished witness at last by whom to prove that the greatest ering of this or any other age had been done in the cause of the conspirators. He has found not only a witness, but the ablest ally that he could have found with a search warrant upon this earth. Upon this issue Mr. Carlisle stood to day where Mr. Sherman stood twenty-two years ago.

Sometimes when we consider how wiser was the secretary of the treasury and I may differ now, I remember that for nearly twenty years we stood shoulder to shoulder in both houses of Congress and in the Senate and faced to the foe, battling those together. For the yoeman service rendered than I never shall cease to be grateful to that distinguished man, no matter how we may differ now or in the future. I know not what will happen in the high. I love him too closely ever to question the integrity of his purpose or the honesty of his intention. I have tried to tell the truth, not in bitterness, not in anger, but in sorrow and the sincerest feeling of regret. We have come to a point of view, I know not what, but with a certain glee, there is but one I owe this side of the throne of the Omnipotent; it is the allegiance I owe to my people, to that during a life now well spent I have been failing to do my duty, not once but record even though those I have hitherto regarded as the safest and the stanchest of our leaders shall turn their backs upon the traditions of my party and repudiate its teachings. I will not do it.

It is not for me, biased, prejudiced, partial to press to raise the hue and cry that those who think with me are seeking to lead the democratic party into the camp of the populists. It is not true. I stand to day where I have stood throughout my life. I defy the world, the living and the dead, the records of my country and put a dagger upon a vote I ever gave, upon an ultimatum I ever made, that I do not reiterate and reaffirm and justify and defend today. I have not changed. I have never been drawn from my democratic moorings, nor will neither be dashed nor seduced by broad-bastened men belied by the ^{the} power of power. I stand where I ever stood and I stand now. There is no greater disgrace than to be cast into the camp of the populists. There is no greater disgrace than to be cast into the camp of the republicans. There is no greater disgrace than to be cast into the camp of the democrats. There is no greater disgrace than to be cast into the camp of the republicans.

A KENTUCKY MIRACLE.

JUDGE JOHN M. RICE TELLS HOW HE WAS CURED OF SCIATICA.

Circuit Judge, Congressman and Assemblyman. (From the Christian Spy, Ky.)

The Hon. John M. Rice, of Louisa, Lawrence County, Kentucky, has for the past three weeks been writing to the Christian Spy and the Circuit Judge of the sixteenth Judicial District of Kentucky.

He has been complaining and denouncing the financial policy of the republican party. If I am to continue this criticism, I will do so, but at least it will strike the present financial policy of my own administration as heavily as it does the enemy.

What is it I find here to-day in times of peace? This great minister of finance, half a million of bonds to get sold to carry the expenses of this government. Every time you sell a bond for gold you send the price of gold up higher and higher.

We find no money to pay the expenses of telling us to pass a bill authorising the secretary of the treasury to sell any amount of bonds not exceeding $500,000,000, payable, interest and principal, in gold, and gold alone.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Exhibits at the School Building and Graduating Exercises Last Night.

The various schools made an exhibit on work done by the classes on Wednesday and Thursday and concluding to-day.

All of the rooms were decorated with the class colors, chosen by the pupils. The exhibits consist of regular class work done during the year, examination papers and various treatments of work done by the pupils.

The entire exhibit makes a magnificent showing of the work done by the pupils of our schools and is exceedingly creditable to both pupils and teachers.

It is stated by those who saw the Chicago exhibit that it is superior to any shown by the Kentucky schools at the World's Fair.

Last night the graduating exercises were held at the tabernacle and eleven young ladies received diplomas. The following program was carried out: Star of Empire S. C. Mercer, Junior Class.

MONTHLY CROP REPORT.

The weather the first ten days of May, was very favorable for farm work and vegetation, but a cool wave set in on the 12th inst. which continued throughout the week, and on the 15th inst. severe frost occurred through-out the State. In many places the State ice was formed from one eight to one quarter inches in thickness. Heavy frosts occurred on the 15th and 16th. The damage from this spell was not as much as was thought it would be—as it was followed by heavy rains and showers, which were a great benefit to the pasture and crops. The weather since the 15th of this month was thought to be general and very much needed—as complaints were already coming in that stock water was getting scarce. The general tone of the correspondence for the month is not at all flattering, however, very little rain having fallen during the month.

It was thought for a while that the wheat was damaged very much by the freeze, but the damage was very slight, if any. The Hessian fly has made its appearance in many parts of the state—doing very great damage to the wheat crop. Some correspondents report a large portion of the crop fallow from the effects of the freeze.

Others report that the rust is damaging the crop very materially. The condition of the crop as compared to last year, is 83 per cent., a considerable reduction from last month.

The reports from correspondents are very full and very varied. The country in the state has suffered from the ravages of the army and worm.

The cut worm was never known to be so bad—many correspondents report that corn had to be planted as many as three times, and that the crop will necessarily be very late. The damage from the freeze was very great; it turned yellow and looked bad for some time, and where it was left to grow is very little, if any, in advance of that that was planted over.

If our farmers will recall that a large portion of our corn crop was planted in June last year, and that it was later than usual, the damage is getting later every year.

The theory of fall plowing to prevent cut worms is exploded, for they seem to be as bad on one kind of ground as another, but as there are many other advantages from fall plowing, the farmer should not abandon it.

The acreage of corn is placed at 92 per cent.

The condition of rye as compared to last year is placed at 93.5 per cent.

OATS.

Oats have suffered more from the ravages of the worms than either wheat or rye, the plant being young and tender when they made their appearance.

Many fields have been laid waste by the worms. There is about 90 per cent. of oats down.

The acreage is placed at 92 per cent.

CLOVER.

Clover has suffered more from the effects of worms than either bluegrass or timothy. More especially young clover, which in many places has been entirely destroyed.

The comparative condition is placed at 80 per cent.

TOBACCO.

The question asked this month concerning tobacco was to the condition of the plants and to the acreage.

Quite a number of correspondents write: "Whole plant beds entirely destroyed by the worms and unable to get more, and ground will be planted to corn." Plants that have been planted and all destroyed by worms, and projects very little. The condition of the plants is placed at 80.5 per cent.

PEAS.

As there was not much of an apple crop last year the per cent. will run very high.

The comparative per cent. is placed at 119.

FEATHERS.

Very few counties report having peaches. Those reporting have a good crop, which makes the per cent. very high. The per cent. is placed at 85 per cent.

POTATOES.

Potatoes are looking very well considering all the troubles they had to encounter. First the frost, then the worms, and now the potato bug. The acreage compared to last year is 93 per cent.

HOGS.

Average number of hogs as compared to former years is placed at 91 per cent. The average number of brood sows is placed at 94 per cent.

Run

More than two years without cleaning, but many a watch has been laid aside as worn out because it has been allowed to run longer than that.

We nearly always find that the jeweler's cut in watches that have run too long without cleaning, and unless the pivots are polished and holes repaired, or new pivot inserted, the watch will not keep as good time as before.

When your watch needs cleaning, or any repairs, bring it to us and it will be done PROMPTLY in a FIRST-CLASS manner.
